

A Collaborative Cookbook for:

Partnerships,
Inclusion,
and Equity

EngenderHealth

Acknowledgements

EngenderHealth garnered the “recipes” included herein from attendees at the sixth International Conference on Family Planning, held in Pattaya City, Thailand. We are grateful to all who visited our booth at the conference and contributed to this collection. Amy Agarwal designed this book.

Dear friends and allies,

Partnerships, in all their various forms, are fundamental to every aspect of EngenderHealth’s work—across all geographies and issues—and we strategically seek opportunities to collaborate, share knowledge, and learn from other organizations. Through informal and formal partnerships as well as participation in advisory groups, coalitions, and other fora, we are committed to advancing sexual and reproductive health and rights for everyone, everywhere.

At EngenderHealth, we are committed to supporting country- and community-led solutions and our relationships with stakeholders in the countries where we work—such as governments, health system authorities, associations of healthcare professionals, community-based organizations, technical working groups, and civil society organizations, including women- and youth-led organizations—are paramount to our collective success.

EngenderHealth also strives to promote inclusive and equitable partnerships, and we do this by amplifying the work of our partners, strengthening our skills together, fostering connections across communities and countries, and bringing separate but related networks together. And, we are committed to evolving our approach to collaboration by sharing power, authentically listening to partner voices, and meaningfully evaluating our partnership models to ensure they are equitable, responsive, and accountable.

Through our participation at the sixth International Conference on Family Planning, held in Pattaya City, Thailand in November 2022, EngenderHealth garnered “recipes for inclusive and equitable partnerships” from colleagues who visited our exhibition booth. We are pleased to share a compilation of these “recipes,” which incorporate ideas and aspirations from sexual and reproductive health experts and activists from around the world. We hope you will join us in reflecting on the ingredients and special instructions and help us in continuing to foster inclusive, equitable partnerships so that together, we can foster a gender-equal world where all people achieve their sexual and reproductive health and rights.

In gratitude,
Your friends at EngenderHealth
